What One Daring Young Aviator Accomplished In Four Months

Photos by American Press Association.

HARRY NELSON ATWOOD of Boston, twenty-seven years old, has been crowned king of all aviators because of his wonderful achievements in the art of aviation. His success is the more remarkable from the fact that it was only on last Memorial day that he made his initial flight. His record of four months not only does credit to the young man, but opens amazing possibilities to the imagination. On June 30 he made a flight from Boston to New London, Conn., carrying his mechanic as a passenger. The next day he flew to New York. On July 8 he flew to Atlantic City on his way to Washington, arriving at the latter city on July 13. On Aug. 14 he started from St. Louis and arrived at New York on Aug. 25. With these laurels, Atwood may be considered to have reached the apex of aviation. He admits that he is seriously considering quitting before he "gets his." In the illustration Atwood is shown tying down the Hudson river and again just as he landed at Governors island.

THE MONEY NEEDED FOR IMPROVING OTHER STREETS

So City Officials will at Once Begin Collection of Amounts Assessed Against Property Owners on Elm Street to Pay for Brick Pavement.

The ordinance assessing the several property owners on Elm street for the cost of the paving of Elm street between Church and Lee streets with vitrified brick, which was passed by the Board of Commissioners at the meeting yesterday afternoon, appears in full elsewhere in today's paper as required by law. In addition to making the assessment of something like $18,000 on the abutting property owners the ordinance empowers Mayor Murphy to levy on the abutting property to satisfy the claims against the owners, making the cost of the paving a lien on the property. It specifies that ten days notice shall be given the property owners, after which the property is subject to levy. The ordinance was drawn by City Attorney Cooke and is quite lengthy.

Mayor Murphy when seen this morning stated that he would proceed with the collection of the money due the city as soon as possible, as people were clamoring for street improvement in all sections of the city and until this money is collected there can be no permanent work done. The owners are notified in the ordinance to appear before the board on the afternoon of Oct. 10 to show cause, if any they have, why their property should not be assessed and the money collected to reimburse the city for the cost of the paving.

As a result of litigation it is understood that there will be some opposition to the enforcement of the ordinance and it is probable that the matter will get into the Supreme Court before all claims are collected. The city contends that the paving is well worth the price paid, $1.92 per square yard. The contract price was $2.08 per square yard, but as a result of the litigation the price was cut 16 cents per square yard. The officials state that they believe that no one should object to the payment of this sum, but should pay the debt immediately and put the city in position where it can go forward with other street improvement work that is badly needed in all parts of the city.

In order that readers of The Telegram may thoroughly understand the matter a few facts concerning the case are given.

Some five or six years ago the city contracted with the Southern Paving and Construction Company to pave Elm street between Church and Lee, the pavement to be vitrified brick on a cement base. The work was commenced in the fall and appeared all right until after the railroad was crossed. When the work had progressed to a point opposite the postoffice an injunction was secured stopping the city from paying for the work, claiming that it was inferior. The city engineer, who was daily on the job stated that it was all right and the city dissolved. However, when the work was completed the city refused to pay over the balance due under the contract, contending that the paving was not up to the standard specifications set forth in the contract. The company contended that the city engineer had passed upon the work and the contract stated that all work was subject to the approval of the city engineer.

Suit was instituted in federal court and the paving company won out after a hard fought battle. The case was appealed by the city and the circuit court of appeals sent the case back for a new hearing. The case came up last December, but before it was taken up an agreement was reached whereby the city paid to the company something like $8,000, including all costs in the case. This meant a saving to the city of something like $16,000. The reason the assessment was not made before was because of the

TO INVESTIGATE ASSESSMENTS IN FOUR COUNTIES

Those in Forsyth, Pitt, Wilson and Davidson will be Looked Into.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 8.—The Corporation Commission has issued orders for the chairman of the County Commissioners and the county assessor in four counties—Pitt, Wilson, Davidson and Forsyth—to appear before the commission September 20 and show cause why the valuations of real estate in their respective counties should not be advanced to its value in money under the State tax regulations. This is on account of affidavits by citizens of these counties that the Atlantic Coast Line and the Southern Railway companies have filed setting out that the assessments on real estate are as low as from 33 1-3 to 60 per cent. The railroad companies are using these affidavits in demand that the commission reduce the tax assessments the commission has made against the railroad property for taxation. The certifications of lowest valuations on real estate are from Pitt county where it is asserted that they are as low as 33 1-2 per cent. The valuations in the other three counties are asserted to range upward to 60 per cent. It is expected that the investigations into these affidavits will bring about some interesting revelations.

DR. CHRISMON BACK FROM VETERINARY MEETING

Raleigh, Sept. 8.—Dr. W. G. Chrismon, State Veterinarian, has returned from Toronto, Canada, where he delivered an address before the Association of Veterinary Faculties and Examining Boards of North America. It is needless to say this association is made up of professors from the veterinary colleges of the United States and Canada, also professors in the different agricultural colleges who are teaching veterinary subjects, and members of the boards of veterinary examiners of the different states. While in Toronto Dr. Chrismon attended the American Veterinary Medical Association and was elected to membership as well as to membership in the Association of Veterinary Faculties and Examining Boards.

INTERURBAN LINE TRAFFIC BUILDERS AND DEVELOPERS

Raleigh, Sept. 8.—That interurban lines are great traffic builders and developing agencies for the sections through which they pass is shown by the August report of business done on the Asheville and East Tennessee Railroad, which connects Asheville with Weaverville, eight miles away.

During August thousands of people used the road and the report is for that month and the business showed an increase of approximately 50 per cent over the business done in August, 1910. Great throngs of people who spent the summer in Asheville and the surrounding country made use of the road and Weaverville became a summer resort.

And the local people, the people of the country, are using the road. For a time after it was completed the travel from points leading into Weaverville was light, but now farmers from all that section ride to Weaverville, hitch their teams and go into Asheville on the cars. Plans are being perfected to lay out several small towns between Asheville and Weaverville and it is expected that in time the road will be along a great boulevard, bordered with handsome homes.

The growth of business on that road, the development of the country and the use of the road by the farmers is indicative of what may be expected when the Carolina Power and Light Company gets its electric road in operation to the Country Club to the city railway park, and to Lassiter's Mill. It is to be expected that the farmers in the section about Lassiter's Mill will make use of the road, that improved farms and handsome homes will be found all along the line of the road. That the traffic on this

$250 REWARD FOR CAPTURE OF A. W. ROGERS

Special to Telegram.
Raleigh, Sept. 8.—A reward of $250 was offered today by Governor Kitchin for the unknown assassin of Auneborn W. Rogers, merchant of Williamston, on the night of August 20. He was shot about ten o'clock at night as he was going from his store to his home. In writing the governor in an urgent appeal for the reward to be offered by the State Sheriff J. C. Crawford declares that the people of that section are greatly outraged by this crime following close upon the shooting to death of Chief of Police White, of Williamston, on the night of August 15.

BUSICK FINED FIFTY DOLLARS

In Municipal Court this morning there was very little to claim the attention of Judge Euse.

Addie Cecil was called out and an alias warrant was ordered.

Alfred Lane was placed under a bond of $50 on the charge of retailing, and was locked up in default of bond.

In the case of the State against Will Busick, the court ordered that he should pay a fine of $50 and costs.

REDSKINS CAMPING ON THE TRAIL OF MUCH HATED MAN

Rumored That Plans Have Been Arranged for His Capture Saturday Night.

Despite the fact that this is an era of civilization when murders are abhorred and atrocities by Indians have been for years forgotten the fact has leaked that a band of redskins are in the vicinity, camping on the trail of the enemy, who in this case happens to be a man who is so thoroughly hated that should the Indians get their hands on him he will be burned at the stake.

The Red Men are even now camping close on the trail and are expecting to effect a capture by Saturday night. In fact so confident are they that the pale face will be caught, scalped and burned at the stake while the Red Men cavort around the funeral pier with a fiendish expression of pleasure on their faces that they have invited a number of their brethren from other tribes to witness the "sport." It has further leaked out that the paleface sought is sleeping in the ball park and the Indians hope to effect his capture by placing sentries at each exit while the main body searches for the victim. The band of Indians is now said to be camping in the vicinity of Revolution and will make a thorough inspection of the park grounds tonight in order to be ready for tomorrow night, when the horrible deed will occur.

Sheriff Jones stated today that the rumors had reached him and he would be on hand with a large force of deputies in readiness to dispel the redskins in case the rumors proved to be true, unless the number was overwhelming in which case, he said, he would let discretion be the better part of valor and silently get out of the way and hope to surprise the redskins later.

To get at the heart of the matter Enos Tribe, No. 61, Improved Order of Red Men will burn a paleface at the stake Saturday night at Cone Park. Following the thrilling exhibition the ladies of Washita Council, No. 8, Daughters of Pechontas, will give a lawn party in the park. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend. No admission fee will be charged. The exercises begin at 8 o'clock.

Members of Minnesota Tribe will meet at 6:30 and go to Proximity to take part in the exhibition.

TWO BLOCKADE OUTFITS RAIDED IN JOHNSTON COUNTY

Special to Telegram.
Raleigh, Sept. 8.—Revenue raiders report two distilleries destroyed in Johnston county this week and two blockades bound over to the next term of the Federal court. They are Robert Edwards and Chas. P. Godwin. One still was a forty gallon plant four miles from Princeton and the other was a sixty gallon capacity plant near Emit. Edwards was running the Princeton distillery and Godwin the Emit still, so the officers claim. The raiders were Deputies J. P. H. Adams, J. B. Jordan and F. W. Knight.

World's Longest Single Span Re-enforced Concrete Bridge

WITH the completion early this fall of the Monroe street bridge, Spokane will have the longest single span re-enforced concrete bridge in the world. The central span is 281 feet in length or twelve inches longer than the bridge over the Rocky river, under construction at Cleveland, O., and fifty-eight feet longer than the famous Wissahickon river structure at Philadelphia. The bridge will have a roadway for teams and walks for pedestrians as well as tracks for the electric lines of the city. The city of Spokane is paying for the bridge, the cost of which is to be $550,000. The most important thing about the bridge is the fact that the principle employed in its construction, while old in theory, is new in practice. In this structure each segment of the arches was made separately and afterward keyed in, contrary to the usual custom of building the molds and then placing the entire amount of concrete in at once or as nearly at once as possible. Only enough steel was used to prevent surface cracking. By using as little steel as possible two things were accomplished—almost one-third of the estimated cost, according to the usual manner of construction, was saved, and no initial strain whatever was placed on the bridge before the concrete was firmly set. When the separate blocks were keyed in the trestlework was constructed so that even then no strain was placed on the setting concrete until perfectly dry.

SOFT DRINK DEALERS ARE ARRAIGNED IN CITY COURT

Several Parties Charged With Selling Liquid Containing Over Three Per Cent. Alcohol ---Samples of Drink Analyzed by Chemists.

The law allowing the sale of the infamous "near-beer" expired on July 1, but it seems that some of the dealers in this beverage seem to think it is perfectly all right to sell it provided they do not call it "near beer."

Now it would be alright, according to the law, to sell a soft drink provided it did not contain over one-tenth of one per cent of alcohol, but the police have been thinking for some time that the drink called "no-tax" had an especially good sale, at the very stands at which near beer had been dealt out prior to July 1. By some means or other the authorities got some of the so-called "no-tax" and had it analyzed, finding that some of it contained as much as three and one-half per cent alcohol.

Two weeks ago warrants were issued for H. R. Fentress, who was running a soft drink stand, as he claimed, on South Elm street, near the depot, for D. W. Myers, who was engaged in like business on Lewis street; another for Luther Whitell, who has lately been working at a stand of this kind on West Gaston street.

These men have been brought before the court twice and each time the cases were continued. The parties claim that they were selling a drink which would stand the test in a chemical analysis, but the vigilance of the officers enabled them to apprehend and arrest the parties who persist in selling a drink that, the authorities claim, is not only unlawful, but which is injurious to the welfare of the city and the state at large.

The time of the trial has not been fixed, but the offenders will be prosecuted by the city to the fullest extent of the law, feeling that as long as such places are operated it will be impossible to drive out alcohol in all its forms. The authorities in other towns of the State are having similar troubles, the "soft drink" dealers digging up a new Expenditures Will Not Be Made Public.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 8.—Because it may make capital for the defense, County Auditor Walter Lewis said the expenditures of the prosecution in the preparation of the dynamiting and murder cases against the McNamara brothers would not be made public until after the trial.

When asked if his annual report, now being prepared, would show the amount spent by the county in the case, Lewis said a secret fund had been set aside and the figures would not be made public for some months.

Clarence Darrow, chief counsel for the McNamara brothers, said there would be no attempt on the part of the defense to defer the trial beyond the date already set, October 11th.

of those already there. That statement fits conditions in Greensboro, too. This city needs industries. In fact, there is hardly any price Greensboro could pay cessful in getting it.

NEW ORDINANCE.

At yesterday's meeting of the Board of Commissioners the following ordinance was adopted:

Whereas, in pursuance of authority vested in the Board of Aldermen of the City of Greensboro by the Charter and ordinances thereof, Elm street from Church Street to Lee street was made a taxing or assessment district and ordered to be paved; and

Whereas the said street was adjudged to be much in need of repairs and improvement, and in the opinion of the Board, the welfare and convenience of the public required the said street, within the limits aforesaid, be graded and improved and paved with a suitable pavement, and that the work done on said district was necessary for the public convenience, and the improvement would be of special benefit to owners of abutting property on said street, and that said improvement should be made,
and that one-half of the cost of said improvement, within the limits aforesaid, should be borne by the abutting property owners as provided by the Charter of the City of Greensboro, and the ordinances thereof, and to that end one-half of the cost of said improvement should be taxed against the abutting property;
and

Whereas to secure uniformity of work, it was adjudged that the City pay one-half for said work done and charge one-half to the abutting owners, in proportion to the lineal feet of street abutting on said property, and Whereas, after notice was given, as provided by said Charter, the said Board was of the opinion that said street should be paved with vitrified brick; and

Whereas, the said City advertised for bids for the said pavement and in pursuance thereof, entered into a contract with the Southern Paving & Construction Company to do the said work, after notice and hearing from property owners on said street; and whereas said work was finished and completed, but owing to litigation the assessment was delayed; and whereas on the 7th day of December 1910 the litigation was ended, the pavement accepted, the work costing Thirty-five Thousand, One Hundred and Fifty-two Dollars and eighty-five cents ($35,152.85); or one and 92-100 ($1.92) Dollars per square yard and Whereas it is adjudged that the said pavement was necessary and is well worth the amount of $35,152.85, so expended, and is accepted, and that the City and property owners have received full value therefor, and that the same is of special benefit to said property owners, to the amount hereinafter taxed;
and that whereas after accurate calculations and measurements, it is ascertained that the exact amount to be paid by each of the owners of abutting property in proportion to lineal feet on said street to be taxed against said property and constitute a lien thereon is as fol-

CASCARETS CURE A BILIOUS HEADACHE

You're bilious, you have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered.
Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure.
Remember that every disorder of the stomach, liver and intestines can be quickly cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you and the entire family feeling good for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

Too Much Given to Boasting.

Forced to Leave Home.
Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs, are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way.
Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calamine, Ark.,
"when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. Its surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma, Croup—all Throat and Lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial

FOLEY'S KIDNEY REMEDY (Liquid).
Is a great medicine of proven value for it gives them. Howard Gardner.

A Great Advantage to Working Men
J. A. Maples, 125 S. 7th St., Steubenville, O., says: "For years I suffered from weak kidneys and a severe bladder trouble. I learned of Foley Kidney Pills and their wonderful cures so I began taking them and sure enough I had as good results as any I heard about.
My backache left me and to one of business, expressman, that alone is a great advantage. My kidneys acted free and normal, and that saved me a lot of misery. It is now a pleasure to work where it used to be a misery. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me and have my highest praise." Howard Gardner.

marred the call of a neighbor on Mrs.
W. P. Spauld, of Manville, Wyo., who said: "she told me Dr. King's New Life Pills had cured her of obstinate kidney trouble, and made her feel like a new woman." Easy, but sure remedy for stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Only

False Teeth for Horse.
Dentistry for animals is now being practiced extensively. The latest story of successful treatment comes from Youngstown, Ohio, where a horse owned by Silas Simpson now rejoices in the possession of a full set of teeth. The animal has been in the Simpson family for years, and when its teeth became bad a veterinarian recommended having them taken out.
This was done, and a set of artificial teeth made. They are removed and cleaned once a week. The horse eats its oats and food with the utmost ease, and willingly shows the false grinders to strangers.

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT.

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures
as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs that do no earthly good. Hair, when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly.
Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair trouble, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ; and, so far, the only hair preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide—absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs.
It always itching instantly; makes hair glossy and soft as silk. "Destroy the

SOME NECKWEAR NOVELTIES

Pretty Velvet Tie for Lingerie Blouse—Jabot Made of Plaited White Net.

Ties of narrow velvet, edged with tiny satin flowers continue in favor. One to be worn with a lingerie blouse is made of an inch-wide strip of Irish crochet. It rounds the neck, crosses in front and falls to bust in round ends. The crossing is held by a bunch of pink satin roses and green leaves, while a wreath outlines each end.

A jabot is made of plaited white net finished with quarter-inch hem at side and inch hem at bottom, with half-inch band of pink mull or other mercerized material on which are worked white coin dots in satin stitch.

A smart tie to wear with turned-down linen collar is made of a narrow insertion of Irish crochet tied in a double stiff bow with strapped knot and two ends falling well below bust line, where they are finished in fringe or crocheted pendants.

Another fashion is to wear a collar and jabot of dotted net or the heavy meshed ecru net bound on the edges with material of the frock.

HOW NICKNAME ORIGINATED

When Dutchman Is Stopped From Entering House He Tells Doorman He Is an Alligator.

Makers of the laws are accustomed to finding themselves likened to diverse species of the "lower animals" in times of political excitement, and at all times among the cartoonists and newspaper wits; but perhaps nowhere else has so remarkable a term been applied to the legislator as one noted and explained in "The Old Virginia Gentleman," by George W. Bagby.

For many years the members of the Virginia house of delegates were nicknamed "Alligators." The origin of the term is said to be this:

An uncouth, roughly dressed Dutchman one day attempted to make his way into the hall, but was met by the doorkeeper with the query, "What do you want?"

"I want to go in here."

"Whom do you want to see?"

"I don't want to see nobody; I want to go in."

"You can't go in, sir. The house is in session, and it is against the rules. If you want to see any member, I will call him out."

"I want to go in," persisted the Dutchman.

"I tell you again, you can't go in!" retorted the doorkeeper, angrily.

"But I sh a Alligator."

"A what?" cried the puzzled doorkeeper.

"I sh a Alligator minelself."

"What did you say—a Alligator?" The doorkeeper stared in amazement.

"Yaw!" roared the now excited Dutchman. "I sh one o' dem Alligators from the County of Viti!"

A light dawned on the doorkeeper's mind.

"Now I understand you!" he exclaimed. "You are a delegate from the County of Wythe. Walk in, sir."

Ever since the term "Alligator" has been a household word in Virginia.—Youth's Companion.

WOMAN BUYING SHOES

THAT IS WHEN FAIR CREATURE IS MOST EXASPERATING.

After Trying on All the Footwear in the Store She Finally Decides That She Will Look Elsewhere.

See, children, the lady is buying a pair of shoes. She has been buying a pair of shoes for an hour, as you can see from the signs.

The salesman waiting on her looks as if he had been run through a wringer, and his collar is wilted.

About the floor, on the perforated-backed benches and on the wide shelf below the stock shelves are many shoes and many boxes.

The lady has one stockinged foot on the near-leather stool and looks pleased, because she has tried on every shoe in the place as nearly as the salesman can figure.

To begin with, she wanted high shoes with light soles and cloth uppers, and though they found a pair that fitted her exactly, she decided on tans instead.

The tans were too small, but the clerk didn't say so, merely observing that they were a little short for her.

Then she decided on gun metal oxford ties, and the clerk swarmed up the rolling ladder and got down seven boxes.

One pair of those fitted her exactly, but the unfortunate salesman had told her they were only $3, and she always got $4 shoes.

Then, having been fitted in gun metal oxfords, she changed about and decided on high shoes with cloth uppers, but with heavy soles.

Having accomplished a perfect fit in these, and having revolved the matter in her mind, she decided that she didn't want high shoes at all. Spring was coming on, and she had seen a beautiful pair of high-heeled slippers in the window. Would he get them out for her? Sure.

But she didn't like these on close inspection, and preferred a shade of tan. But tan wasn't so fashionable, and she looked at the black.

Then another salesman came on the scene and assisted, and the proprietor came and announced that he knew just precisely what the lady wanted.

They were ordered from the east—might even be at the depot now. Could she come in tomorrow?

And now observe—the lady is telling the proprietor she will come in tomorrow and depart.

The proprietor knows where she is going, and knowing it, sees no use in having her followed.

She is going to another shoe store.

because she, having decided she needs new shoes, is in a panic lest she will not get them at once.

And she will get them, too, because such a thing as a lady postponing getting shoes when she has once started to buy is absolutely unheard of.

And in the shoe store the proprietor sighs and points to the scattered shoes, and boxes, and tissue paper, and shoeboxes, and two salesmen sigh and begin restoring things to order.

They say nothing, for there's nothing to be said. It's all in a day's work, and they're sorter used to it.—Galveston News.

The New Neighbor All Right.

A young couple newly married had just moved into the house next door, and through an open window Mrs. Bonnamy, screened from view behind the curtain of her own window, was watching the young wife at work straightening things in the sitting-room.

"Good!" she exclaimed, turning away at last. "That girl has been properly trained. She'll do."

"What have you found about her?" asked Mr. Bonnamy.

"I've found that she knows how to use a broom."

"How does she use it?"

"Every three or four strokes she makes with it she turns it in her hand."

"Why does she do that?"

"It's just like a man to ask that question. She does it to keep the broom from getting lopsided. Wears it out evenly; last twice as long, don't you see?"

"Why I didn't know—"

"No, of course you didn't. Neither do half the women," said Mrs. Bonnamy, almost spitefully.—Youth's Companion.

Real Tip-Toppers.

Senator Brown, apropos of the marital misadventures of a young multimillionaire, said at a dinner in Washington: "The trouble is that too many of our idle rich young men think that among their many rights is included the right to do wrong. They are, in truth, as foolish in this respect as the maidservant who said:

"I've got a place among the tip-toppers for sure this time. They're bang up aristocrats I live with now."

"What do you mean by bang up aristocrats?" a friend asked.

"Oh," she replied, "I mean places where they have three kinds of wine and the ladies smoke and the men swear."

WHAT WORRIED THE OLD MAN

Peculiar Instance of Connubial Affection—Concerned More About Himself Than Wife.

A peculiar instance of connubial affection occurred some time ago in Vermont. An aged couple, who through half a century of married life had wrangled with each other, were in all probability soon to be separated. The husband was taken ill and was believed to be near his end. The old wife came to his bedside, and after carefully examining and taking stock of his condition, exclaimed: "Well, daddy, your feet are cold, your hands are cold and your nose is cold."

"Wa'al, let 'em be cold."

"Wa'al, I guess I know what I'm about."

"Daddy, what's to become of me if you die?"

"I dunno, and I don't care. What I want to know is, what's to become of me?"

Why He Quit.

"Haven't I the privilege of making suggestions to the man fixing the lawn?" she asked with tears in her voice.

"Why, certainly," he assured her.

"Well, just because I made a suggestion to him he threw all his tools in the wheelbarrow in an angry manner and went away without saying a word."

"Why, what had you said to make him act like that?"

"I just asked him to plant a few nice bright dandelions in the lawn."

WHAT DID SHE MEAN?

HARD TIMES FOR DOCTORS

Their Fees Were Small in Babylonian and Failure to Cure Meant Torture.

Babylonian surgeons four thousand years ago had not the easy time of their modern colleagues. The French archaeological commission has just discovered there a tablet containing some interesting facts about the Babylonian Bob Sawyer. For all operations "performed with a knife" patients were to pay twelve silver shekels, which is about $3.75 of American money. A broken leg or arm must be set for $1, and teeth were drawn at the uniform rate of seventy-five cents.

All the same, this must have been pretty good pay for the time, because the tablet in question goes on to enumerate the punishment meted out to surgeons who made professional mistakes. These would appeal even less to the modern medical man than the low fees.

When an operation caused the death of a patient the unfortunate surgeon had both his hands cut off; and when he did not cure his patient in reasonably quick time, the tablet tells us that his fee was confiscated by the government. It does not mention what was considered a reasonable time for healing.

Value of Fads.

Whatever our occupation or profession in life may be, it is most desirable to create for ourselves some other special interest.

In the choice of a subject anyone should consult his own instincts and interests. I will not attempt to suggest whether it is better to pursue art or science; whether we should study the moles in the sunbeam, or the heavenly bodies themselves. Whatever may be the subject of our choice, we shall find enough, and more than enough, to repay the devotion of a lifetime. Life no doubt is paved with enjoyments, but we must all expect times of anxiety, of suffering and of sorrow; and when these come it is an inestimable comfort to have some deep interest which will, at any rate to some extent, enable us to escape from ourselves.—Sir John Lubbock.

A Boston Casualist.

Mrs. Smart—I told him my children were all underground.

Mrs. S.—Oh, it was quite true. You see, at the time I told him, I'd sent the children riding through the subway.—Boston Evening Transcript.

In India. When the Groom's First Choice Balked, He Accepted a Volunteer.

The Youth's Companion recounts a story of a wedding described in Dr. Winifred Heston's "A Bluestocking in India."

"Yesterday I went to a native Christian wedding. Many guests had assembled and the ceremony had progressed to the point where Mr. Gray asked the bride:

"Do you take this man to love, cherish and obey?" when the young woman in the case responded with a surprising and unmistakable "No!"

"Mr. Gray labored with her in an undertone, but to no avail. The marriage had, as usual, been arranged by the parents without consulting the daughter. But it is almost an unknown thing for a girl to be so bold and disobedient. The situation was then explained to the assembled guests, and volunteers were asked to supply the vacancy. A young woman promptly came forward and the ceremony proceeded as if nothing had happened."

"Afterward the bridal pair left the altar by different aisles to hold a reception under a tree, where congratulations and rice were poured upon them. The groom placed a silver ring upon the great toe of the bride's left foot, and a 'best man' tied the groom's neck scarf to the bride's flowing garment, and thus they sat in state for some hours."

Derivation of Word "Caucus."

As to the origin of the word "caucus" there is much diversity of opinion. It has been traced to a North American Indian word "kaw-kaw-kaa," meaning to talk, giving advice or instigate, whence came "caucorouse," a chief. More often, however, it is explained, as English, a corporation of "calkers' meeting" and here again there is a variety of choice. One version tells of meetings of the Boston dockyard calkers to elect delegates to represent their grievances against the English soldiers. Another makes it a term of opprobrium, "calkers" standing for humble folk generally. A third explains that it was in a calkers' meeting place that the Boston politicians assembled.

ATTRACTIVE NEW HOMES.

R. C. Hood, Secretary and Manager of the North Carolina Trust Company, is just finishing up four of the most attractive houses in Greensboro on Magnolia Court, near North Elm street, at Fisher Park. The streets and yards will be graded in a few days and shrubbery planted in the court when the weather will permit.

These houses are unique in design and finished with hardwood floors, built-in book-cases, china closets, nooks and window seats. They contain high grade steam heating plants which also furnish abundant hot water night and day for kitchen and bath room. Gas ranges are to be installed in the bright, airy kitchens and each house contains a breakfast room in addition to the main dining room.

The material used in construction is of highest quality and all floors are doubled and the houses will last almost indefinitely and meanwhile be comfortable all over as the heating plant which is modern and inexpensive to maintain, reaches every room and hall way so that the occupant has the use of the whole house during cold weather. There are closets galore, everywhere, big ones.

The houses are for sale at reasonable prices on easy terms and as Mr. Hood says, they are good houses for good people. Sept. 4, 6t.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 8.—The Liverpool market came in strong on spots, which were 10 higher, sales 10,000. Futures fully met our advance of yesterday.

The census gave 771,415 ginned to Sept. 1, vs 353,011 last year and 388,242 in 1909. The main contributors to this year's ginnings were Texas with 559,114; Georgia with 134,075 and Alabama with 40,500. While ginnings were larger than generally expected, the market advanced. Early ginning figures have only a statistical value and may reflect damage by drought and forcing weather conditions. Current crop news was there fore given first consideration in trading and this news today was decidedly bullish. A traveling crop inspector says that the crops in a large portion of Alabama and Mississippi have been enormously damaged by insects and that continued showery weather interferes with checking this damage. A party in South Carolina reports the crop outlook disappointing.

The map shows cloudy weather in the northwestern quarter of the belt and the Atlantic States with rains in Oklahoma, Arkansas and the Atlantic. Generally fair weather elsewhere with only a few scattered showers, but weather prospects are unfavorable in as much as showers are again likely to become more general in the eastern half of the belt over Sunday. Oklahoma and North Texas should also get more rain and possibly heavy rains.

WIDE TIRES A HELP

IMMENSE BENEFIT IN KEEPING HIGHWAYS IN GOOD CONDITION.

CONCERTED ACTION NEEDED

Two-Ton Load on Wagon With 1¾ Inch Tires Will Do More Damage in Cutting Up Road Than Twice the Load on Three Inch Tires.

By HOWARD H. GROSS.

The question of good roads throughout the country is of tremendous importance, and the people are everywhere clamoring for them. The great majority seem to be wandering around in a maze of uncertainty as to what to do.

The solution involves many factors. Local conditions are subject to a wide variation both as to soil, road material, amount of traffic, etc., hence no rule can be laid down that will apply in all cases. The subject must be given intelligent treatment by a capable engineer, familiar with the surroundings.

There is however one thing that can be done that will be of immense benefit to the roads of all times, whether earth, stone or gravel, and that is wider tires upon the wagons. Untold millions of dollars of damage to highways is done every year by heavy loads upon narrow tire farm wagons. These are often from one and a half inches to one and three-quarters wide, seldom more than two and a quarter. A two-ton load on a wagon with one and three-quarters inch tires will do more damage in cutting up a road than twice the load upon a three inch tire. If we could have uniform, concerted action in any community, whereby three to three and a half inch tires would be put upon every farm wagon, it would mean much better highways than we now have. The narrow tires mean deep ruts, and if the rule is a narrow tire upon wagons, the man who goes out upon these fair authorities discovered that if the exhibits were hauled in and out on these roads it would destroy them, because of the narrow tires that prevailed upon the wagons of the truck and express companies. The authorities established a rule that no narrow tire wagons could come on the grounds. There was a great howl by the transportation companies, but the teaming companies met the conditions by substituting a wide for a narrow tire upon the same wheel. They simply took off say a two and a half inch tire and put on one three and a half inches or four inches upon the same wheel and the same felloe. This served the purpose.

About three years ago the city of Chicago passed an ordinance providing for wide tires upon vehicles using the streets for traffic. A tremendous howl was made by all teaming interests and they brought in the wagon makers to state that the changing of these wheels meant an expenditure of millions upon millions of dollars, and it would take several years in order to have the change made. Large manufacturers of wagons said the wagon stock was gotten out for the narrow tire wagons, and it would take at least two years before any general change could be made. At that time the writer took a hand in the campaign with others, and published in the Chicago papers illustrations of how this change could be made (see cut herewith). The city council stood firm, the ordinance was passed and the users of narrow tires were arrested and fined. In a very short time wide tires began to appear upon the streets, and now the use is general and the solution has been mainly as indicated, namely, substituting wide tires for narrow ones upon the same wheels.

Any local blacksmith or wagon maker can make the change indicated and the expense ought to range between $5.00 and $12.00 for a wagon. The illustration is so simple that anyone can follow it.

The question is, how shall this be brought about? The writer would suggest a state law licensing all the vehicles, the same as the automobile is now licensed, and let it apply upon everything that goes upon the road, graduating it with a view of making agreed to move a given load, over various surfaces with tires of different widths. Many persons will be surprised to know in the large majority of cases a load can be moved with less power with vehicles having wide tires, rather than narrow ones.

There may be another and easier way to accomplish the end desired than the imposing of a license tax upon vehicles. That would be to credit the owner a certain amount each year on his annual road tax bill, upon furnishing proof that all his vehicles used upon the highways conformed to the wide tire requirements.

Suppose the owner has a road tax of, say $12.00, and he has two wagons used upon the highways. Credit him $4.00 per year upon each wagon for four years. In this way the tax abated will more than pay the cost of changing the wagon. Thus, his interest would be sufficient to induce the owner to make the change.

Public sentiment would also change rapidly in support of the wide tire movement, and in a year or two a man would be ashamed to be seen on the street with one of these road destroying wagons.

The plan suggested is feasible, practical and has worked satisfactorily where it has been tried. There is no reason why action should not be taken along the lines indicated.

Referring to the illustration above, a wide tire can be placed upon an old wheel without any filling piece as shown in the illustration. Just let the tire project a half inch on each side of the felloe. This will greatly simplify the changing from the narrow to the wide tire, and for many localities will serve the purpose just as well.

Wide tires make roads, narrow tires destroy them. There should be a thorough co-operation between all of the residents of the several townships for better roads. Nothing can be done so quickly and so cheaply that will be productive of such good results as to discard narrow tires and substitute wide ones in their place.

He Made an Army.

A noteworthy example of patience in small things is to be seen in the recent acquisition of the "Lavalles" of some eight thousand little soldiers made of cardboard and mounted on little wooden stands, says the London Globe. It is the work of M. Paul Schmidt, a Strasburger, and represents the troops stationed in the famous cathedral city in 1848. Infantry, cavalry, artillery, voltigeurs, zouaves and barracks firemen are represented, and these had taken part in the conquest of Algiers. For the most part, at any rate as far as the officers are concerned, the faces are true portraits and at the back of each figure the name and rank of the party is to be found.

Hard to Obtain Radium.

London's radium institute is finding it hard to obtain the five and one-half grams of radium needed in its equipment for therapeutic work. The firm which undertook to supply that amount is unable to live up to its contract. The institute is to open in October.

highways with a wide tire is badly handicapped. Hence, if any good is to come from the wide tire movement, it should be generally adhered to. It is a truthful statement that wide tires make roads and narrow tires destroy them.

An equitable basis would be to license all vehicles doing business upon the public highways, grading the license fee according to the width of the tire, and letting the amount of money paid in be used to maintain the roads. This is just and no one, who is willing to tote fair can object to it. In grading the license fee it should be in such a manner that it will be to the interest of the owner to substitute a wide tire for his narrow one.

When this is suggested, it will be at once said that it is impractical, and that it cannot be done. It is surprising how many objections can be found against the doing of anything that a person does not want to do. The writer has witnessed two campaigns where the question of narrow and wide tires has been thrashed out and every objection made and answered.

The first was during the World's Fair in Chicago. In the grounds were temporary roadways, designed to last only during the fair season. These were made of gravel or crushed stone about three or four inches deep. The the vehicles that do the most damage pay the largest tax. Without giving an entire schedule the following will illustrate what the writer has in mind:

That after a given date no vehicle shall be used upon the highways unless it carries a license.

On a two horse farm wagon with a tire of 1¾ inches or less the annual license fee to be $7.50 a year.

Over 1¾ inches and under 2¼ inches, $4.50 a year.

Over 2¼ inches and under 3 inches $3.00 per year.

Three inches or over, $1.00 per year. The money collected to be credited to the road district and be used for road repair work.

There is another advantage to be gained by this method over and above the preservation of the highways; that is, the same wagon is more useful on the farm or on the fields for doing ordinary farm work. The hauling over hay fields and grain fields with narrow tired wagons does considerable damage. Handling out manure, and in a variety of farm work wide tires are advisable. Many farmers keep wagons with wide tires for this specific purpose. Why not have all vehicles carry a wide, sensible tire that will improve conditions rather than make them worse?

Dynamometer tests have been made showing the amount of power re-

Farmers Need It.

The progressive farmer is regarded as the TYPE of independence. He lives well, has practically everything he wants, and has money in the bank. Do you know what made the successful farmer? Why it was simply the application of business principles and methods to agriculture. If you are a farmer and haven't a business education, you are simply making old Mother Earth give you a bare living, when she ought to yield you a surplus. Apply business principles—bookkeeping, etc.—to your farming operations, and you will be astonished to see how much more can be done by a little FIGURING than by a lot of SWEATING. WENDENBURG IS SENATE WINNER

Elected Over Wickham, While Gregory is Defeated in Chesterfield

Richmond, Sept. 8.—While a few scattering precincts were still to be heard from at an early hour this morning, returns indicated that L. O. Wendenburg had been elected to the State Senate from the Sixteenth Senatorial District over Judge T. Ashby Wickham, and that Commonwealth's Attorney J. M. Gregory, of Chesterfield, had been defeated by Haskins Hobson.

The victory of Mr. Wendenburg, while not predicted by the politicians, was largely due, it was said, to his brilliant work in the prosecution of Henry C. Beattie, Jr. He received a majority of the votes cast outside of Henrico, and when that county reported it was shown that he was clearly in the lead. His victory is remarkable in a sense because he was unable to get into the campaign, having canceled all of his speaking engagements in July, when he was asked to assist Judge Gregory, in the famous murder trial.

The defeat of Judge Gregory was one of the big surprises of the day. His friends gave him to understand that everything was going his way, but like his distinguished associate, he could not get over the county on a speaking tour.

JURY GETS THE BEATTIE CASE THIS AFTERNOON

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., Sept. 8.—Attorney Harry M. Smith, Jr., made the concluding speech for the defense in the Beattie case this morning.

In the course of his argument Smith said "I congratulate you gentlemen on the diligent attention you have given this case. I think that every one has agreed that whatever the verdict may be it will be a conscientious one. What we are troubled about is a disagreement. My purpose is to convince you that the defendant is entitled under the court's ruling to a verdict of 'not guilty.' After touching upon things incidental to the placing of too much confidence in the circumstantial evidence he said 'We do not yet know what there is in the theory of the commonwealth as to the manner in which this murder was committed.' The attorney said that the crime as portrayed by the State was necessarily committed by an idiot by preparation of the scheme of murder. Smith's efforts were directed to bring into the minds of the jurors reasonable doubt.

The final speech was made by Attorney Wendenburg for the prosecution. The argument was an able one and the attorney portrayed in vivid terms the evidence brought out and contended that a verdict of guilty should be returned, as the state had proven by circumstantial evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that Henry Beattie committed the murder.

Beattie expressed confidence in an acquittal this morning. Thousands of wagers are being made in Richmond as to the probable outcome. The betting is against Henry Beattie. The odds are ten to one for acquittal and six to two that the jury would disagree. It is believed the jury will render a verdict late this afternoon or early tomorrow.

Overwhelmingly Defeated Jones and Glass in Virginia Primary.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 8.—Additional returns from the primary yesterday serve to increase the majority of Senators Martin and Swanson. It is now believed that the majorities will be between 24,000 and 30,000. There is a doubt whether Jones carried his own district, the vote being close. Glass failed to carry his district.

REVOLUTION MAN KILLED ON TRAIN NEAR DANVILLE

Ernest Nall, of Revolution, was killed near Danville last night, while on a moving freight train near that city. He was riding on the freight and was struck by an overhead bridge a few miles this side of the city. The remains were brought to this city today for interment.

The following is from today's Danville Register:

Ernest Nall, of Greensboro, N. C., a young white man about twenty-three years of age was instantly killed last night about half past ten o'clock while passing under the Dry Bridge on South Main street on top of a train when his head came in contact with the wood work of the bridge. There were no eye witnesses to the sad affair and it was not known that he had been struck until the train reached the station and his lifeless body was found lying on top of one of the cars.

It is understood that Nall was riding on one of the cars on the fast freight and just before reaching the city climbed on top of the car and being unfamiliar with the road did not know of the bridge and failed to lower his head as the train swept under the bridge. When found, the young man was badly bruised about the head and covered with blood. The remains were taken from the train and taken to an undertaker's shop where they were prepared for burial.

From Nall's pocket was taken a small envelope containing a check for $14 drawn on the Revolution Cotton Mills at Greensboro. Efforts are being made to communicate with his parents in Greensboro.

Mr. Campbell is a professor at the Rothersted, England, agricultural and experimental station and is sent out by the British Agricultural Department on a year's tour of the tobacco-producing countries of the world to gather data relative to tobacco-growing with a view of introducing the cultivation of the weed on an extensive scale in the "tight little isle." The British government has an idea that the cultivation of tobacco will help solve the labor problems of England and afford employment to some of the idle people in that country. Mr. Campbell spent Tuesday at the experimental farm near Reidsville and secured a wonderful amount of information about the growing of tobacco.

DEPARTMENT STORE GREENSBORO

75 PER CENT. OF THE BIG ADVERTISERS OF AMERICA PREFER EVENING NEWSPAPERS

Out of 400 Large Department Stores 302 say they Prefer Evening Papers and Give Reasons Why

(FROM THE LOS ANGELES RECORD)

OUT of 400 letters sent to the large Department Stores of America asking which they considered a better medium for advertising, a morning or an evening daily newspaper, 392 replied. Of these replies 302 stated they preferred the evening newspaper for advertising; 26 stated they gave the evening paper first copy when they used an evening and a morning paper. As the Department Stores are always the largest advertisers in their respective cities and are in a position to see where the results come from, their opinions, formed from experience, are most valuable. They all speak most emphatically of the advantages of the evening paper over the morning paper for advertising. Of these 302 advertisers who prefer the evening paper a large number of them use the evening paper exclusively and find the returns most profitable.

THE following statements made by the different large firms of America show why they prefer the evening paper over the morning paper:

ST. LOUIS, MO.—The evening paper is best, as it is the one that gets into the homes and stays there. Men carry the morning paper downtown on their way to work in most cases.—Wm. Barr Dry Goods Co.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—The evening paper undoubtedly is the best advertising medium, because it most surely gets into the very hands toward which all department store advertising is intended—the women of the house—and because there is plenty of time to read, plan and digest.—Loverman, Joseph & Loeb.

CHICAGO, ILL.—We spend $325,000 a year and 75 per cent of it is in the evening papers and 25 per cent in Sunday papers. Even with our great morning papers we cannot make them pay, though the experimenting has cost us $100,000.—Siegel, Cooper & Co.

EVANSVILLE, IND.—We prefer the evening paper for advertising because the housekeeper, business man and working man have more time to go through the paper in detail after the day's work is over and have time to plan their next day's shopping. Our experience is that we get quicker and more direct results from the evening paper.—Fowler, Dick & Walker.

BOSTON, MASS.—We consider the evening paper the best medium, because it is taken home and the women get to see it.—Henry Siegel Company.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.—We consider the evening newspaper better, because we cater to the working people, and they are employed from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. and their only leisure time is in the evening, and they invariably take only evening papers, and have more time to read advertisements.—Cline Bros.

ALBANY, N. Y.—We consider the evening newspaper a better medium for advertising, because women have more time and better opportunity to read the evening papers.—Waldman Bros.

AKRON, OHIO.—We consider an evening paper a superior medium. The evening paper goes direct to the homes and is more thoroughly read. It is read by men after business duties are through for the day and they are more liable to remember the advertising. The morning paper is used by office men.—C. H. Leager & Co.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—We consider the evening paper the best advertising medium, as the average woman does not take time to read a paper until her work is done.—Ed Schuster & Co.

DETROIT, MICH.—We prefer the evening paper.—Partridge & Blackwell.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.—Best results from evening newspapers. The only time I use a morning paper is Sunday for Monday's business. Balance of the week the evening papers do the work to my entire satisfaction.—The Fair.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—We use afternoon papers exclusively during the week. Morning papers on Sunday only.—John C. Lewis Company.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—For advertisements containing items of special prominence likely to produce a rush, the evening newspaper serves as a better advertising medium, first, because people as a rule, have more time to read an evening paper thoroughly and note the contents thereof; second, it gives an opportunity to shoppers to select what items they contemplate purchasing and allows them time to prepare a program for the next day's shopping.—Burgin Dry Goods Company.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We prefer the evening paper week days and the morning paper Sundays only, because the evening paper is brought to the home by the member of the family who goes to business and buys and reads the paper on his way home. The Sunday paper is delivered at the home and read in the home.—Price & Rosenbaum.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We consider the evening paper the better medium for advertising, mainly because the evening paper goes into the home and stays there when there is time for the whole family to read and consider.—Frederick Losser & Co.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—We have always given the evening paper the preference. We spend $40,000 a year for advertising and this all goes into newspapers. We use no other medium of any kind, as we consider ANYTHING OUTSIDE OF THE NEWSPAPER as money wasted.—W. H. Elsing & Co.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—We consider the evening paper better as a general thing, for it is usually the home paper.—Caldendar, McAuslin — Troup Co.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—The evening paper is, in our opinion, most profitable for advertising.—The Wm. H. Block Company.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—We do most of our advertising in the evening paper.—Wm. Henerer Co.

BOSTON, MASS.—We prefer the evening paper by all means, because it goes into the homes directly, while the morning paper has a tendency to work back into the business section and does not reach the homes in such relative number as the evening paper.—Houghton & Dutton.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—Where I've been, almost without exception, the evening paper is the best medium.—W. H. Milligan, Advertising Manager Field, Schlick & Co.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—The evening paper by all means.—The Bailey Company.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—It is our opinion that the evening paper is better, as the shopper is prepared to sally forth the next morning.—Penny & Gentles.

DOG'S LONG LINEAGE.

It is impossible to say when dogs were first domesticated, but some of the earliest traces are found on Egyptian monuments, with figures of dogs, somewhat of the greyhound type, which date back to at least 3500 B. C. Even in these remote days the dog was highly esteemed. Coming down a little later, we read that Ulysses, 3,000 years ago, was recognized by his dog Argus after his swineherd had failed to do so. Plutarch speaks of Alcibiades, who out of the tail of his dog, and Myron, the sculptor, immortalized the animal by chiseling his image in marble. The Romans valued their dogs, and kept them for the chase and also as pets. Alexander the Great owned a pet dog fit to tackle a lion.

THE NUPTIAL KISS.

The nuptial kiss, with a meaning akin to that of the kiss of peace, had its origin in a most serious and practical church ceremony known as the espousals. Among mediaeval people, as among some classes of Jews today, it was quite customary for the bridegroom and bride to meet before witnesses in the church some days or even weeks before the marriage, and there make a pledge of future union, and at each time a ring was usually presented by the prospective husband. Sometimes, however, the man was too poor to buy the ornament, and instead presented a kiss, which was doubtless more pleasant and was considered a binding pledge before man and God.

GERMANY'S POOR NOBILITY.

Prof. Kekule von Stradnitz has just made an interesting study of the condition of many of the ancient nobled families of Germany. The professor finds that the descendants of families whose nobility is beyond question are in some instances gaining a livelihood, such as it is, as clerks, shopmen and minor officials. Many have emigrated to America. Among these are scions of houses justly distinguished in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Not a few, having put in their term of military service, are now passing their days in the ranks.

Trainloads of Candy.

If America's annual candy supply were loaded on one train there would be over eight thousand trucks full of boxes, buckets and glass jars. This load of sweetmeats for the sweet tooth of the American girls costs the consumers about $125,000,000 every year.

When a man starts out to live down his salary he usually succeeds.

SUGGESTIONS ABOUT THE BOY

Remember the Difference in Stages of Development and Do Not Force Him.

Study your boy; watch his development from early childhood; give him every opportunity to show what there is in him by furnishing plenty of wholesome work and strenuous play. Teach him to work persistently and with a purpose. Pay him reasonably for what he does and train him to save. Put him through the grammar school by all means and the higher schools if you can. Allow for a period of indifference to the business of the world, and also expect him to show more or less variability and turning aside in the choice of a vocation. Do not force or resist him to the point of straining the close tie of friendship and affection existing between him and yourself. Await with patience the awakening of his best vocational aspiration, indicating all the while your belief that such an event will certainly come to pass. And sometime you may have the exceeding great joy of knowing how much worth while it has all been!—The Delinquent.

Emblems.

"Emblems" is a pretty, pastoral word reposing in the not-often poetic verbiage of the law. Old law writers, too, struck by its euphony, have given it attractive definition. "Emblems," they say, "are the products of the soil where art combines with nature." Strawberries, potatoes of one's garden, corn and wheat of one's field are emblems—though the fruit trees are not. The exception indicates that erudition and poesy are not always hand in hand, for the poetic definition is thus inexact.

What a melodious phrase for farming, agriculture, truck gardening this is—"where art combines with nature." How truly, too, it invests the best service of mankind with the dignity it merits. It is an art to make two blades of corn grow on the spot where only one grew before. What artist creates with fine greater genius than he who sculpts out of air and soil and his own fine frenzy a nobler berry, a more seducing peach, a better vegetable? Who has painted with worthier inspiration than he who has painted a new lily, a more delicate rose?—Kansas City Star.

Shameful Confession.

Doctor—You are considerably under weight, sir. What have you been doing?
Patient—Nothing. But I'm a retired grocer, doc.—Puck.

BLOUSE FOR SPRING WEAR

Collarless Garment That Will Be Appreciated as the Warm Season Comes On.

The new aspects of our old friend, the blouse, are so distinctly attractive that there will be special interest and pleasure in making choice of those which are to complete your spring costumes. The design shown here is one of the best, its Magyar modeling making it most comfortable, while the absence of any collar-band gives still further proof of up-to-dateness, and a welcome freedom for the neck, too, which will be specially appreciated as the season advances and the weather grows warmer. Fancy net is the fabric which is thus advantageously used, the pointed revers being of handsome lace, while the chemise which appears between is of finely tucked net with pipings and buttons of satin to introduce some dainty touch of color.

Baby's Spring Bonnet.

Spring bonnets for very little babies are made of white liberty satin. They are close fitting, but the satin is pulled on the crown, the band around the face being plain. Embroidered side pieces are set in, the most attractive design is tiny forget-me-not wreaths. Where the ribbon ties are set on there are roses of the white satin, in the center of which are tiny rosebuds. There are other bonnets also of the liberty satin, which have full crowns and the satin draped over the straight piece which forms the front. These are trimmed with narrow pink or blue velvet ribbon. Embroidered batiste caps have the tiniest bouquets of pink and blue flowers set on the left side of the front.

CHANGING OVER A NEGLIGEE

Only a Few Alterations Are Required and You Have Practically New Garment.

A plain negligee of mull or lawn can be taken out of the wrapper class by adding a shaped collar of the material or of a contrasting fabric lace trimmed. One girl who had a last season long, loose wrapper almost on the Mother Hubbard lines of pink batiste has turned it into a smart negligee to accompany her to a house party. She found a yard of white Swiss embroidered in a pink dot just a tone deeper than her wrapper. This she cut into a sailor shape collar reaching well over the shoulders, but with long tab ends in front to reach nearly to the knees.

Instead of the square sailor lines, the collar, back and front, was indented by cutting out of each corner an oblong strip two inches deep and six long. In front the collar extended from this notch to form the long stole; in the back it had just the two-inch projection in the middle of collar. The neck was shaped surplice in front.

The collar was edged all around and across bottom of stole ends with Valenciennes lace two inches deep and an inch from the edge; a two-inch insertion outlined the shape of the collar. The kimono sleeves were slashed on top and edged with lace with the insertion similarly set. The sleeves and collar were fastened with rosettes of pink gauze ribbon.

AN ANCIENT TRADE SECRET.

The manufacture of vermilion, which is one of the foremost industries of Hongkong, and entirely in the hands of the Chinese, is very ancient. They made artificial cinnabar (a form of mercury, the base of vermilion) long before Europe was civilized, and some of the granite stones between which the pulverized ore is ground are almost prehistoric. Even in the present day there are trade secrets in the industry which no European has been able to fathom. There are over one hundred of these manufacturing plants in Hongkong and Kowloon.

Early Advice to Children.

"Honor thy father and thy mother" stands written among the three laws of most revered righteousness.—Aeschylus, 500 B. C.

The Truly Great Man.

He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city.—Proverbs 16:32.

Smallest Inhabited Island.

People who inhabit some of the Thousand Islands in the St. Lawrence river claim that they are the smallest inhabited islands in the world, but it has recently been determined that the site of the Eddystone Lighthouse is entitled to the distinction, the island upon which this lighthouse is built being only 30 feet in diameter at low tide.

Daily Thought.

Though we travel the world over to find the beautiful, we must carry it with us if we find it not.—Emerson.

Living Portrait of Mark Twain.

A singular story comes from a small town in Pennsylvania, according to Harper's Weekly. On April 21, 1910, a cow was born on a farm near Alburts at almost the identical moment when Mark Twain died at his home in Connecticut. On her right side, outlined in dark brown against a snow-white background, is a profile bust of that author. The likeness, which was plain at the birth of the calf, has grown more and more distinct, until it is now impossible to fail to identify the well-known features. Naturally, the cow was named Mark Twain. It is safe to say that the great humorist would have appreciated this joke of Nature at his expense.

Prince's "Pull" Abolished.

According to custom in China the members of the imperial family are above the law. Prince Can-Chi has been doing just as he likes recently, fortified with this immunity. There is not a hygienic law that this interesting person has not broken, and great recreation seems to have been to defy the police. At length to the endurance of the police there came a limit, and the matter was brought under the notice of the regent, who has not only abolished the "convention," but the prince's recreations also, and given instructions that in future he must act as an ordinary citizen, or stand the consequences.

Training School for Burglars.

An academy where burglary was being taught on the most approved lines by experts in the profession was discovered by the police at Berlin lately. The principal, who was an old convict, examined each student in the various branches of the science before granting the leaving certificate, which was equivalent to a degree in burglary. In return for their training, board and lodging, the students were expected to pay a fixed sum and a percentage on their profits during the first year or so after they entered the profession.

Every Dollar of an Ad-Reader's Money is Above Par!

Frequently Its Buying Power Is Actually Doubled!

YOUR DOLLARS vary in value as they vary in purchasing power. The man or woman who studies advertisements is able, frequently, to make one dollar do the usual work of two.

And the experienced reader of advertisements will always make a dollar command a premium—make it buy more than a dollar's worth, as figured on "ruling prices" of things.

How much "above par" are the dollars in your pocket worth? It will depend on how closely you study the buying opportunities outlined in the store ads.

Cheeses as Hairlooms.

In some parts of Switzerland it is said that cheeses form family heirlooms which are sometimes handed down from one generation to another. At Les Ormonts, in the canton of Vaud, it is customary to make special cheeses for certain family feasts. They are tagged with explanatory labels and eaten several years later, at other feasts, or even at funerals. Recently, at Les Ormonts, in a concealed shelter, there was discovered a cheese dating from 1785. It was as hard as a rock and had to be cut with a saw. It is reported to have tasted good.

That Was All.

"I don't know whether I ought to recognize him here in the city or not. Our acquaintance at the seashore was very slight."

"You promised to marry him, didn't you?"
"Yes, but that was all."

The Sacred Czar.

It is not only the Russian Court Journal which has a circuitous way of referring to the "czar." Even in conversation Russians never call a czar a czar. It is not incorrect to use the terms czar, czaritz and czarévitch, but in practice they are heard only in the Liturgy of the Orthodox church and sometimes from the lips of people of revolutionary views. In ordinary conversation the czar is called Gousdor, a word which means Lord or Sir. In the Court Circular it is the practice to term the Sovereign Gousdar Imperator, the Lord Emperor. Nobody ever speaks of the czaritsa; she is always Gousdarinya, the Lady of Gousdarinya Imperatritza, the Lady Empress.

Invincible Foe.

The word obsolete puts a battleship on the junkpile quicker than a hard-fought battle.

TO BUILD ROAD FROM WINSTON TO HIGH POINT

Winston and High Point to do Work--Shortens Distance to Winston.

Winston, Sept. 8.—With an unanimous voice the most largely attended meeting of the Board of Trade in many months went on record last night for filing in the missing link on the otherwise splendid highway between Winston-Salem and High Point and a committee, with Mr. D. H. Blair, chairman, was ordered appointed to take up the matter of building the three miles and a half of road across Davidson county. The remaining members of the committee will be appointed by Mr. Blair.

This committee at once will secure the services of County Engineer Spoon to survey the stretch of road across Davidson, and to submit an estimate on the cost of putting this in proper shape for automobile traffic, thus assuring the automobile line between this city and High Point.

Mr. Spoon was at the meeting and stated that he could do the work the first of next week. When he has completed the survey the authorities of the trade organization of High Point will be conferred with and some agreement will be reached as to the amount each city shall contribute towards doing the work. When this agreement is made then the committee will begin soliciting subscriptions, and it is believed that no trouble will be experienced in getting the necessary funds.

The importance of this highway was most ably set before the Board last night by Mr. D. H. Blair and Mr. A. F. Sams. It was brought out that if the highway is completed, not only will the city be greatly benefited by being linked so closely with High Point, but the new route by way of High Point to Greensboro will be three miles shorter than the present highway to the county seat of Guilford.

Every member of the Board of Trade appeared greatly interested and not a man was silent when the motion was put for the committee. Many expressed themselves on the proposition and all agreed that the building of the road to High Point was the most important matter that the board could now consider.

When the stretch across Davidson is completed then the Board of Trade will ask the county commissioners of Forsyth to complete the one mile and three quarters of the road not now improved and lying in this county.

PETTY THEFTS LAST NIGHT

Some pillaging was done last night in Hughes Alley when some robbers, the number being unknown, entered the blacksmith shop of Tipton and Overby and stole the sum of $1. The same party or parties entered the Transou Hat Company and made away with several hats, several pairs of gloves, and $2 in cash. The police have been on the lookout for the robbers, but have not been successful in apprehending the right parties.

Then—

The Darning Method

Under the old way you spent hours darning the hosiery every week. You often had to sit up late at night to get the work done. In fact, it was a drudgery that you didn't know how to avoid.

Even when the work was done the hosiery was uncomfortable. This was not your fault, for the darning drew the stocking out of shape and left a thick pad which irritated the skin.

Holeproof Hosiery is the first guaranteed hosiery ever put on the market. Others have imitated the guarantee, but they could not equal the 31 years of experience that made this hosiery possible.

The Holeproof Method

With the new way you need never see the darning basket. You have your evenings to read and talk with the family. For if there appear any holes in the hose within six months, you send them back and get new hosiery.

Besides this, the hosiery makes the feet comfortable—it fits the ankle as neatly as a glove fits the hand. No wonder, then, that over a million homes have adopted this method.

READY FOR POSTMASTERS.

Arrangements Completed For Annual Convention At Asheville September 19-21.

Asheville, Sept. 8.—Arrangements are about complete for the annual meeting here, September 19-21, of the postmasters of North Carolina. It is expected that there will be approximately 400 postmasters of the State in attendance, including first, second, third and fourth class postmasters. The Postoffice Department has granted a leave of absence to all postmasters in the State desiring to attend the convention and already many have signified their intention of taking advantage of the leave of absence to "rub elbows" with their co-workers in the Old North State for a few days.

It is certain that Third Assistant Postmaster General DeGraw will be among those present, while it is expected that Postmaster General Hitchcock will also attend. Mr. Britt will deliver an address before the convention on the subject of "The Reform of the Postal Laws." It is also stated that a representative of the civil service commission will attend the convention and deliver an address.

The talks before the convention will be of interest, not only to the postmasters in the State, but to the patrons of the offices. The Association of North Carolina Postmasters includes all first, second, third and fourth classes. There are approximately 1,800 postmasters in the State and the association has a membership of about 2,000.

The Batter Park hotel will be the headquarters for the association during the convention and during the meeting there will be a number of social events to enliven the convention period. The officers of the association are: J. R. Joyce of Reidsville, president; S. A.

White, of Mebane, secretary and treasurer; T. E. Wallace, of Wilmington, H. H. Jenkins of Henderson, J. L. Walser of Lexington and J. O. Fitzgerald of Pelham, vice presidents.

Centenary Revival Services.

In the revival services at Centenary church last night Rev. J. H. Barnhardt preached a sermon of unusual power and clearness on the relation of the child to the Kingdom of God. This morning at 10 o'clock he addressed his remarks directly to the children illustrating a number of important truths with object lessons. After the lessons had been given, a large number of the children present came to the altar offering themselves for the Christian life. Mr. Barnhardt will preach tonight at 8 o'clock at which time he desires the children to be present again that they may share with the grown people the full benefits of the services.

RALEIGH GIRL RUN DOWN BY TOURING CAR AT NOON

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 8.—Little Emma Hamilton, aged nine years, was run down by a big touring car at noon today, on Salisbury Street at the Capitol Square corner. Her face was badly cut and her chest and leg terribly bruised. The gravest fear is there may be internal injuries. The girl is a daughter of Rufus Hamilton, gas and electrical contractor.

The car was driven by H. C. Bridges, of Tarboro, in company with H. P. Foxhal, also of Tarboro. They insist that they were making only about six miles an hour and that the children became confused and this one pulled away from companions and turned back into the street directly in the track of car which they stopped with all possible promptness.

ORGANIZED LABOR TO ENTERTAIN DELEGATES

$3,000 Subscribed in Atlanta for Entertainment of Delegates to Convention.

Atlanta, Sept. 8.—Organized labor of Atlanta has already subscribed $3,000 toward the entertainment of the delegates to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which will meet in Atlanta in November. A report to this effect was made to the general reception and entertainment committee Wednesday night by Chairman Ashley, of the finance committee. He added that the balance of the money required would be forthcoming shortly, as many of the union organizations have not yet been approached with reference to contributions.

The meeting of the general committee Wednesday night was fully attended. Every branch of organized labor in Atlanta was represented, and the reports were encouraging. Jerome Jones, chairman, presided over the committee meeting.

The general committee has, heretofore, been meeting only once a month. It has been decided, however, to hold weekly meetings in future. An extra meeting will be held on the third Wednesday of this month.

Chairman Jones Wednesday night named a sub-committee on entertainment, as follows: Claude Ashley, chairman; Thomas Scales, O. A. Cone, N. H. Kirkpatrick, Carl Karston, S. B. Marks, J. F. Bradfield, Jerome Jones, ex-officio.

fact that while the case was in court the whole matter was tied up. The fact that the city compromised would tend to bear out the contentions of the property owners who secured an injunction and first started the proceedings that the pavement was faulty. In collecting the assessment the city will have to overcome the objection, that during the time the case was in court, was made by the city itself. However, to offset any objection that might arise because of default in the manner of construction the city will contend that because of the reduced cost per yard of the paving the property owners are getting value received for their money as the paving is well worth the price actually paid. The pavement has been in use for several years and as a whole is yet in good condition, there being only bad places here and there, caused by an inferior brick.

They money has been paid out for improving the street and the property owners have gotten the benefit and it is only just and right that they pay their assessment and thus enable us to continue our work of improving the streets of the city, said Mayor Murphy. We have a number of streets that are badly in need of permanent work but our hands are tied until we collect for this work or issue bonds. We do not feel that it is right to make the people of the whole city pay for improving this street when we make property owners on other streets pay their part of the paving, he continued. The other commissioners, Messrs. Foushee and Brown are of the same opinion as Mayor Murphy and the board will stand firm in its determination to collect the assessments and use the money in improving other streets of the city.
